

RECESS

I like recess.

At recess I want to play with the kids from my class.

It is fun to play with other kids at recess.

When I want to play with other kids I need to ask them to play by saying,

“ Can I play with you?”

I can ask kids, “ What are you playing?” , “ Can I play too?” .

When I ask someone to play, they like it if I stand an arms length away. This is just the right distance so that they feel comfortable. This is called personal space.

When they feel comfortable because I kept personal space they will want to play with me.

If I stand too close it will make them uncomfortable and they might not want to play with me.

Kids like it if I walk up to them and ask them to play.

Kids do not like it if I chase them.

When I ask nicely, keep my personal space, and walk up to them, the kids who I want to play with will be happy.

If the kids I want to play with are happy then I will be happy too.
