

At recess, kids like to play lots of games.

I like to play with my friends at school. Sometimes they don't want to play the game I want to play.

When they don't want to play the game I want to play, I have some choices:

- 1) I can play the game my friends are playing.
- 2) I can play the game I want to play with other kids.
- 3) I can play the game my friends are playing and ask if they will play the game I like to play at the next recess.
- 4) I can do something else.

When my friends don't want to play the game I want to play, I will try to make one of these choices. It's no big deal.

I don't need to get upset or think they don't like me; they just want to play a different game. That is OK. It's no big deal. Lots of kids have different ideas about what they like to play at recess. I will see if they want at some other recess.
